“ I'm going to miss our little talks we would have when I would stop by his house while I was walking my dogs. He would come out when he would see me walking or I would stop by. We would stand there in the front yard and talk about our bad backs and life in general. Before we knew it 30 or 45 minutes would go by. I would always ask him to walk with us but he would give me that smile and say, no you walk to far. Our deepest condolences Virginia to you and your family.
