“Cheeze was strong smart sarcastic humble understanding patient charismatic loving respectful dependable honest passionate non judgmental unafraid and unique. He cared about others and never caused any trouble for anyone. I can not think of a single time he was ever negative to me in anyway. I'm fairly certain that no one was ever effected by any difficulties my brother experienced. He smiled and lifted spirits. Christopher didn't try to impress anyone. He was impressive just being himself. I loved my brother unconditionally. I'm thankful to have expressed to him how much he meant to me and how much I loved him. I miss him tremendously.”

“ I'm Chris's cousin, I haven't talked to Chris in years, we grew up together thou. Our families would get together on weekends back when they lived on MacArthur in GP. I was a bit older than him and spent more time with Juan and Alley but Chris was always around. My memories are or of us just sitting around playing uno or running around in their big backyard. Sometime along the way our families stopped spending so much time together, which is something that as a kid I had little control over. My memories of him are only of a kid that was full of life and full of possibles. I was at the funeral today and saw a person that meant so much to so many people and I'm ashamed I didn't know my family member better... he will be missed by so many - eric

“ Chris was an amazing young man, with a love for people only surpassed by his love for God. While working at MedStar he often would joke and call me Padre when he learned about my attending seminary at one point. We would have great theological conversations. It was so sad seeing him laid to rest today, the grief felt by his family and friends, but I take solace in knowing he is with our Lord now. Chris- You will be so missed. We love you man.
