Delbert Gene Hunsinger, born on August 26, 1951, in Midland, Texas, passed away peacefully on May 29, 2026, in Fort Worth, Texas. He leaves behind a legacy of creativity and a passion for selflessly helping others. Delbert was a talented glazier in the construction industry, known for his dedication to his craft. He found his purpose in his work and was so proud of projects like Renaissance Tower in downtown Dallas, often sharing stories of the many experiences along the way with the people he worked with, especially his time with his dad and uncle.

A man of many interests, Delbert enjoyed crafting imaginative projects from leftover materials. He loved to teach his children his valuable skills such as fishing, carpentry, and glazing, as well as the unique bird call that only he could do. His infectious spirit made family gatherings full of laughter and storytelling, and he was always quick to suggest a family game of poker or a trip to the casino.

Delbert will be dearly missed by his wife, Donna Hunsinger, his daughters Deborah Mickelson and Dawn Meorado, and his sons Robert (Robby) Hunsinger and Randall (Randy) Hunsinger and wife Tamara Hulin Hunsinger. He is also survived by his stepmother Juanita Sue Hunsinger, sisters Doris Watson, Diana Dickerson, and Darla Payne, brother Douglas Hunsinger, grandchildren Dominique Hunsinger, Ricki Hunsinger, Jacob Mickelson, JJ
