“ Might I just say brother, I miss you more than you could ever know. The quiet moments are most difficult. (it has only been a month). I see you walking down the hallway and through the living room. I hear you talking to us. I see you eating dinner with us. When we go anywhere, I see you with us (as it was for the past three years). Although the sobbing has turned into soft tears it is still more difficult that I ever thought it would be. I hope you know how much Jack and I LOVED you. Save us a place next to a dart board and we know someday we will be playing again with only beautiful weather awaiting us. I love you. Sis!
