“ I AM REPOSTING THIS WITHOUT TYPOS I HOPE

If I am ever asked to name an example of a good man, then without a moment's hesitation, I will say John Mowery

Oh, John had his faults, like every human,,being, but who of any of us present are pure enough to cast stones. Certainly, not I John married my sister and I know she would only have married a god man. He loved his familyhis wife. his children and his grandchildren and brothers and sisters, neices and nephews, and was proud of everyone of them And he tried his best to show it, but like all of us, sometimes it just didn't happen the way we would have liked, but it did happen, nevertheless, enough that we all knew.

He made many friends and was there for them when they had need He accepted me for the jackass that I am and will always be and was kinder to me than anyone I've ever known. He accepted his inlaws and he was kind to my mother when she needed it, and did much more than he should have to but never complained. When everyone else pitied me, John never did, and for that alone, I will alwsys be thankful .

John, I will pray for your safe passage across the river and may you rest peacefully. You earned it. You will always be alive in my memories you've made it back to the garden and your goodness will put the angels to shame .and God will smile because a good man has joined him at last and the day will come when we will rise up to join you. Pray for us John, we need it more than you,. I give thanks that I was granted the privilege of knowing you. So I'll only say, so long for now.

My heart is broken to know I can not talk to him anymore and cannot see and be with him. The hurt is so bad and I cry continuously. Just can't imagine life without my big brother. The last time they came to visit and I made a shepherd's pie. John gobbled that up! He was in such a great mood and smiling so much. Told me he loved me and always prayed for me. So heartbreaking to lose him.
