

Marie Moore

April 6, 1930 - June 9, 2013

Marie Jackson Moore, 83, was called to her heavenly home on Sunday, June 9, 2013 in Dallas, Texas.

Marie Moore was born on April 6, 1930, the 3rd of 4 daughters born to the David Jackson family in Oklahoma City, OK. They would move to Dallas, specifically in the Oak Cliff area where she would remain for the rest of her life. Lovingly referred to as Sister Moore, she would be a faithful member of Christian Tabernacle, later known as International Revival Center.

For several years she would work for Sunbelt Leather Company, making purses and belts. She would develop a life-long love for sewing that she would practice until her eyesight deterioration would not allow her to thread needles. She always took great joy in filling the role of mother, grandmother and great-grandmother.

She is survived by children; Eugene Nottingham Jr, Cindy Swindle and her husband Thomas, Donna Lyle and her husband Jim, James Nottingham and his wife Linda, David Moore and his wife Barbara, Susan Youngblood; also by grandchildren, O'Dell Nottingham, Carrie Wiley, Sarah Nottingham, Jennifer Maxfield, Rhonda Meadows, Curtis Nottingham Jr, Norman Nottingham, Kelly Wilburn, Heather Moss, Michelle Bearden, Roy Bearden, Freda Zaragoza, Brian Griggs, Christopher Griggs, Dathan Nottingham, Jason Nottingham, Brooklyn Youngblood, 24 great-grandchildren and 3 great-great grandchildren.

“ I came across this quite by accident. Marie was so good to me and I loved her deeply. I will always remember her unassuming love and acceptance with my naive and youthful ways. I never again in my life met another individual like her. She was exceptional and is even more so in Heaven, I'm sure. Debbie Justus Kuchta
