“ Aunt Shirley was more like a "big sister" to me growing up. She was a small toddler when my parents married and only 9-years-old when I was born. I have always cherished my memories of her since a small child. For me, she and my Aunt Laverne were the best! Not many people can say they had "Laverne and Shirley" for aunts ... But I can! I will always remember taking their lunches to Haggar's Slack Factory with Granny -- a ready-made "burger" from Douglas Food Store. Being the only niece for a while, she made sure my summer visits to "Skeet Club Road" were full of laughter and entertaining, taking me on drags up and down Beaton Street and listening to the radio, going to the drive-in movies, and, like my Aunt Laverne, playing the piano together. I even had the pleasure of tagging along on a couple of dates at the insistence of Papa and Granny. Good times! Fun times! I remember very well when she and Gary started dating and their wedding in Trinidad, Texas. Then, the birth of Leslie, Theresa, and "little" Shirley came. Aunt Shirley, Aunt Laverne and I were all expecting at the same time -- Aunt Shirley with her last, "little" Gary, and Aunt Laverne and I with our first, Sean and Hollie. Now, all of this generation is together again -- Walter, Howard, Annie Ruth, Bob, Laverne, and Shirley. Aunt Shirley will always be with us just as the ones who went before her. Love to you all -- Susan Seago King, aka Suzy Q
