“ William, otherwise known as Papa by my cousins and I, was by far the funniest and most caring person I've ever met. I'm heartbroken to know that he passed away. Then again, it was blessing so have him here with us. I wish I could've spent more time with him, but at the very least, he's in a better place.

“ My big brother Billy! You will be missed! You always called me "Your Baby Sister" as if I never had any other name. You had a love for cars and country music that would drive us crazy but you loved the way a country song told a story. I remember one time you came to my job in one of those big trucks with that country music blasting and you blew that loud horn like no one else worked in the office but me. You made me so mad that day but by the time you left i was laughing!

Your love for Margaret was unmatched. You guys were inseparable. You were connected at the hip. You both worked so hard at your jobs. You always said you just wanted to drive a big rig one more time. You are probably wearing God's ear off to be able to drive that heavenly rig.

Your love for your kids and grand kids was fierce. I remember when you would bring model cars to the house for Gordon and Christopher to help you put together. You leave a huge hole in their hearts that only God can fill. Rest well my brother. Rest in the arms of Jesus with Momma and Daddy! You worked hard your whole life. Watch out for us until we meet again. I love and miss you!

Your Baby Sister,
Cindy (Wallace) Rodgers

“ My stepdad was really funny he loved to play dominoes and listen to his country music. He had a great love for all his kids, grandkids and great grandkids. I'll never forget him. He loved my mother to his soul and a love like there's is very rare. He will be forever love and honored.
